Helena is a half-breed—half angel and half demon—with abandonment issues. Eight years ago, Donny, the lust and love of her life, abandoned her, taking with him both her virginity and her heart. Lena still isn't over him, but the only one who can help her locate him is her demon father—a father who also abandoned her and her mother. The only way to get past this, and get on with her life, is confrontation. On Halloween, Lena plans a trip to Hell. If she can't work things out with Orion, her father, he might at least be able to help her locate Donny, her former bodyguard and lover.

Eight years before, Abaddon—then known as Donny—was Lena's bodyguard. After he'd left her, Orion had punished him, and now he's the gatekeeper to Hell: Abaddon, the Lord Destroyer. All this time, Abaddon had assumed this was punishment for failing to keep Lena safe, and stealing her virtue. Revenge is now foremost in Abaddon's head when he first encounters Lena at the gate. But when he takes her in his arms again, all thoughts of vengeance melt away. He knows now he can never harm her. Minx Malone has penned an erotic short story that made me want it to go on and on. Hellbaby is a spellbinding read you cannot put down with characters and a storyline that just burst off of the pages and grab your attention from beginning to end. This book is so heated that Hell made a fitting background. Never have I enjoyed a short story more than Hellbaby!
